

Broughal Middle School's art teacher for over 30 years, Miss Stacy Zellner, is retiring at the end of this year. To celebrate her achievement of educating generations of students in the South Side Community, we would like to make a video of the lasting impressions, memories, and positive impacts she has had on her students.

We are looking for current students, high school students, recent graduates, and even students from the first class Miss Zellner taught here at Broughal to film short videos. In your video we would like you to share a memory of Miss Zellner, an impact she has had on your life, or your experiences in her class. At the start of your video, please say who you are and when you attended Broughal. At the end, please also describe what words or adjectives come to mind when you think of Miss Zellner. Please make sure your background is appropriate, not blurry, and the lighting is not impacting video quality. Please keep your video shorter than 30 seconds, but 1 minute max. We will be editing all videos together.

If you would like to share a memory of Miss Zellner, an impact she has had on your life, or your experiences in her class, please submit using one of the following methods.

1. Please email Mrs. Dawn Bothwell, Broughal Librarian, at dbothwell@basdschools.org with your video. Or share via Google Drive.
2. If you would like to come into Broughal to film a short video, please email Mr. Nicholas Laudenslager, Broughal Media Advisor, at nlaudenslager@basdschools.org to schedule a recording time after school.

Thank you for your participation in this video project! If you know anyone else who had Miss Zellner as a teacher, please feel free to send them this information! Our goal is to get as many responses as possible and share this video with Miss Zellner at the moving up ceremony or other end of year celebrations. Let's celebrate our amazing art teacher and her successful career here at Broughal!

Participation in this video by submitting a video of yourself via email, in person recording, or any other method, grants Broughal Middle School, Broughal Media, and the Bethlehem Area School District, including its staff, permission to use your video and recording in our own production in a variety of methods.
